Less than three hours after I bought 3G/4G Wireless N Router TP-Link, TL-MR3020 model the router has already been flashed with custom firmware that you know OpenWrt © just my notes, like somehow I need to re-flash again, but I'm glad if it helps you. The original version before the flash. firmware version: 3.14. 2 Construct 120817 Rel. 5520n Hardware version: MR3020 v1 00000000 Download openwrt-ar71xx-generic-tl-m3020-v1-squashfs-factory. bin Alternative: Connect Ethernet cable to computer and open URL using the web browser and using the default user name: admin password: administrator to login if you have not changed before. Select System Tools -> Firmware Update on the menu, choose the bin file above and click on the update button. Leave the whole upgrading process uninterrupted for a while. After all finished the web will show something as incapable of connecting, don't worry about it © because OpenWrt has to change the IP address. Now you can access luci (OpenWrt Web Interface) using new IP address, it should be 192.168. 1.1 (the user name is) © root no password. You successfully installed OpenWrt on the router, if you need to configure the 3G connection using USB Dongle you can follow the instruction below. I use ZTE MF-190 modem 3G, Do luci, navigate to System->Software and install the following packages The router needs to have internet connection to carry out package installation, you can connect the Ethernet cable to your computer and follow the guide from this post comgt knod-usb-serial knod-usb-serial option knod-usb-serial-wwan -N o. usb-modeswitch-data luci-proto-3g Here you can find how to configure and reset the TP-LINK TL-MR3020 router. Start with To connect to the web of your router Follow these steps: Connecting the router Establish a connection between the device and the router via the network cable or Wi-Fi * Start the Web browser Enter IP address in the address bar and then confirm with the key & enter WPS / RESET and hold and hold for at least 10 seconds the device automatically restarts the router was restarted for the factory settings The unit will automatically restart. Once the power light stops blinking, the unit has been restarted and is ready to be used. The reboot of the router does not reset the firmware for a previous version, but will change all the definitions back to the default factory. Rename your TP-LINK TL-MR3020 WIFI name by default (SSID). Some TP-Link routers come with predefined network names (with the manufacturer's name). We recommend the use of a different name because a standard name unnecessarily identifies the mark on your router, making it easier to enter attackers. It is easy for a hacker to figure out the manufacturer's default password for your TP-Link TL-MR3020 router and then use this password to access your wireless network. Therefore, it is advisable to change the administrator password of your TP-Link TL-MR3020 router. When you decide on your new password, try choosing a complex sound of numbers and letters and try to avoid using a password that can be guessed easily. Mac filtering allows you to limit access to your TP-Link TL-MR3020 router. To enable this feature, enter your TP-Link TL-MR3020 router Mac ID 12 characters from each computer that will connect to your network. Be sure to update this information if you add or remove devices. The TP-Link Router TL-MR3020 transmits the Wi-Fi network ID (the call SSID) to all. This can be changed at will, unchecking the corresponding box in the settings. So your network will not be so easily hacked. However, as a You'll have to enter the SSID whenever you connect a device to the network. This step is not mandatory. MAC filtering allows you to limit access to your TP-LINK TL-MR3020 router. To enable this functionality, type in your TL-MR3020 TL TP-LINK the twelve-character MAC ID of each computer that will connect to your network. Make sure to update this information if you add or remove devices. You wouldn't want to think about it at first, but where you put your TP-LINK TL-MR3020 also has an influence on your safety. Place the TL-MR3020 TP-LINK router as close as possible to the middle of your home. The first benefit is that all rooms in your home have the same internet access. The second benefit is that you don't don't want your wireless signal reach far out of your house, where it can be easily intercepted by cyber criminals. For this reason, don't don't put your TP-LINK TL-MR3020 router next to a window, since Nelain's Daugherty nothing obstructs the signal coming out of your home. Home.
