Page: 1 2 3 4 » Article ID: 46702290 Topic or Information Mobile Printer fails to fully charge in the quad charger (Charger Status light is orange) Applies To iMZ Printers, Qln Printers Details "Powered On" printers using the Quad Charging Cradle appear to fail to completely charge. (i.e. The printer's Charge Status light may be orange when left overnight.) This may appear intermittent. Reason: There is no problem with the charging cycle since the printers were placed in the Quad Charger with the power "On". The cradle acts as a voltage source and the printer controls the charging function. When the battery reaches full charge the power is shut off but the "powered on" printer will begin discharging the battery. Once the battery reaches a point of discharge the charging cycle is repeated. The solution is to turn the printer off before placing it in the quad charger. The battery can then be fully charged in one cycle. Source Arthur P .
