The second Heroes Box Baratheon for the Una canciÃ3n de hielo y fuego: Tabletop miniatures game. Product in English language. Inhalt: 7 Miniatures Ser Cortnay Penrose Renly Baratheon Olenna Tyrell Brienne of Tarth, Rainbow Guard Margaery Tyrell Ser Loras Tyrell Ser Eldon Estermont 34 Cards 6 Cards Assignment 4 NCU Cards 24 Tactic Cards House Baratheon is unique in the Song of H Ice and Fire: Miniatures Tabletop Game due to the rules of loyalty of the House. Different characters will work only for one brother Baratheon or the other, and players are not able to mix loyalties into their forces. So, if they choose to have an army that follows Renly, then only the characters and units that are Loyal to him (or those that don't have any loyalty rule at all, such as the House's main line units) can be put on the field. This limitation of options means that players will have to be creative with their constructions. But it also means that those whose loyalties meet together usually have good synergy with each other. Of the unit attachments that come in the Baratheon Heroes #2 box set, it would be discardable to have characters loyal to Renly without having Renly there. So, of course, he is there and is a Commander option for force. He brings his unwavering Charism to any unit he is in. That grants the unit immunity to enemy tactical cards or the influence of enemy NOCs. With how strong some tactics cards and influencing skills can be, not being able to be targeted by them is huge. Unity and die by the dice in battle and not any dirty trick the opponent may have in the store. And where Renly is, Brienne is not far. When he joins a unit, she gives him Renly's Protector. This skill allows allows allows Renly's unit makes a free attack or a charge action against any unit that targets Renly's unit in the field, and even gives them extra dice when doing so. This can create a very powerful 1-2 coup, as Brienne's unity becomes a very effective bodyguard for the hopeful king. Loras Tyrell is also available to add to the player's forces, with a variety of Commander and Deputy regular. Its normal version adds Precision to your unit, which means that when they take out 6 when they attack, those Impacts do not allow Defense Salvations. He brings his fencing skills practiced to bear, letting his unit put his swords into the enemy armor more easily. The Tyrells also appear in the NCUs in the box. Margaery Tyrell, each time claiming a Zone on the Tactical Council, allows the Baratheon player to restore 1 Herida to a friendly unit or remove 1 Herida from an enemy unit. This allows the Baratheon player great versatility, as it could be only 1 Heridas, but it could mean winning or losing a full Range for a drive or ending an enemy that has clinged obstinately to the board with a single Herida on the left. While Margaery Tyrell focuses on Units, Olenna Tyrell has the look on the enemy NCUs. When you claim a Zone on the Tactical Council, you make 1 NCU enemy lose all the Skills until the end of the round. But that's not all, since Eldon Estermont and Cortnay Penrose also come in this box, bringing their own tricks to Baratheon's arsenal. This website uses cookies to remember your preferences.
